About Us

A leader in high-quality uniforms for 35 years, Buttercups is delighted to present its latest corporate and hospitality collection. This exciting collection builds upon our experience in choosing and manufacturing high-quality, professional uniforms for all types of sectors, from beauty to healthcare, all made with the rigours of busy working environments in mind.

Covering both classic and contemporary styles, our new collection is full of hardworking pieces that look great, wear well and feel comfortable. We have ranges to suit every member of staff, from front of house and office to kitchen and housekeeping roles. With a uniform from the Buttercups corporate and hospitality collection, you can ensure that every member of staff is giving your customers and clients the best possible first impression of your business.

This brochure is just a taster of what we offer our corporate and hospitality clients. As before, we have carefully curated a selection of ranges from well-established and highly regarded companies in this sector, all chosen for their style, wearability, durability and practical details. This year we are delighted to introduce our own Buttercups capsule collection of pieces, all carefully designed with the finest of fabrics from our preferred suppliers.

We are delighted to offer personal appointments in our Dublin showroom to take you through the entire collection and to help you make the best choices for you and your staff. # Service Staff

Service staff are often the “face” of a business – so they should look smart, professional and appropriate at all times. A carefully chosen uniform can give customers the right impression of a business, be it formal, casual or something a little funkier. Our curated collections are stylish, tasteful and practical; hardwearing fabrics combined with the latest styles to produce pieces that are eye-catching and simply stunning.

Kitchen

You want great uniforms that are breathable and comfortable to wear

Premier, above

A busy kitchen is a challenging and stressful environment – which is why you want great uniforms that are breathable and comfortable to wear. Our curated collections of classic and contemporary kitchen uniforms are both stylish and practical, ensuring that you look and feel great, no matter how busy the service.

Housekeeping

Housekeeping staff must look as neat and clean as the rooms they are servicing – which is difficult considering the physical nature of the job. Our housekeeping collections combine comfortable, flattering styles that look great every day.
